A positive message

India on Tuesday praised Aung San Suu Kyi’s speech on the Rohingya, saying it had a “very positive message”. Indian Ambassador to Myanmar Mr. Vinesh Nand said the situation in the Rakhine State caused concern in India and urged greater international collaboration to address the situation of the Rohingyas in accordance with a “verification” process agreed with Bangladesh in 2012. The Indian government had been asked to take action against those responsible for violence in Rakhine.

Rajasthan BJP to organise ‘kisan chaupals’ to highlight govt’s works

Meetings to be held between September 20 and 25 in all village panchayats

AFTER a 13-day-long farmers’ agitation in the Shekhawati region forced the Rajasthan government to agree to loan waiver earlier this month, the ruling BJP has decided to hold a series of ‘kisan chaupals’ across the State to highlight the government’s welfare measures for the farming community.

The BJP government had agreed last week to write off crop loans up to ₹50,000 and appointed a committee to study the procedure adopted in other States for its replication here.

The farmers’ agitation, led by CPI(M)-affiliated All India Kisan Sabha, had brought life to a grinding halt in Sikar, Jhunjhunu, Churu and Bikaner districts.

Flesh trade racket busted, three held

THE Shimla police on Tuesday busted a flesh trade racket by arresting three persons, including the owner of a hotel, where it was allegedly running.

A call was received at the Dhalli police station that loud music was being played in the hotel, following which the police conducted raids past midnight and arrested three persons under sections of Immoral Traffic Prevention Act 1956, the police said.

The police also claimed to have detained seven women, four from Punjab and three from Himachal, during a raid in the hotel at Janedghat on Kufri-Chail road, about 40 km from here late on Monday night.

The police said the Dhalli police station had received a call at 2.30 am on Monday night.

The police then conducted raids at midnight in the hotel on Monday night and arrested three persons under sections of Immoral Traffic Prevention Act 1956, the police said.

Mr. Saini said the district-level BJP leaders should reach out to the farmers in every village and apprise them of the government’s measures for their benefit.

"Kisan chaupals should become platforms where farmers can get all information they need about the government schemes," he said.

"Kisan chaupals should become platforms where farmers can get all information they need about the government schemes," he said.

Agriculture Minister Prabhu Lal Saini and Co-operative Minister Ajay Singh Kilak informed about the government’s schemes which were benefiting the farmers, peasants and laborers. These measures include loan facilities, soil testing, weather-based crop insurance scheme and crop storage facilities.

Mr. Saini said the district-level BJP leaders should reach out to the farmers in every village and apprise them of the government’s measures for their benefit.
Gauri killing: former ‘gangster’ quizzed

No Nasal hand, says Agnif Sreedhar

PEERS TRUST OF INDIA (PTE) LTD.

The Special Investigation Team probing the mysterious case of journalist Gauri Lankesh on Tuesday questioned former gangster and journalist Agnif Sreedhar in connection with the investigation.

The 39-year-old was in police custody along with an inspector and a sub-inspector, quizzed Mr. Sreedhar for about an hour.

"It is true that an AIDWV, with an inspector, had come to my office and sought cooperation. He admitted that he used to meet the SI at a hotel before and after the murder," he said.

"Same gang"

"There is no likelihood of the same gang being involved in Lankesh’s killing. It is the same gang, of course, I should say the same boys, who had killed (Narasimha) Rakhavendra, (Gaddam) Panam and (M.M.) Balakrishna. When we are not treated down, there will be more killings in the near future," the "reformed" gangster added.

The SIT had earlier questioned another journalist Gajanan Kulkarni in connection with Lankesh’s killing.

The SIT had, on September 6, arrested a 39-year-old SI to investigate the killing of Ganesh Lakshman.

Row over sari distribution in Telangana

PEERS TRUST OF INDIA (PTE) LTD.

The war of words between the ruling Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS) and the Opposition in Telangana over the state government’s free distribution of saries continued on Tuesday with the BJP and the CPI(M) demanding an inquiry into the programme. The BJP had kicked off in free saries distribution to poor women on the occasion of Ganesh Chaturthi.

The same gift was received well in many places, but it found itself in a row with women beneficiaries allegedly burning the saries over public or their poor-quality. The opposition parties on Monday alleged that the government provided poor women by cutting corners. But state IT Minister K.T. Rama Rao assured the Opposition with indulgence in cheap politics.

1 paisa loan waiver a cruel joke: farmer

Yogi Adityanath govt in UP had announced ₹36000 crore crop loan waiver scheme in April

IN BRIEF

NATION

Yogi Adityanath charged farmers of Punjab on Tuesday dumped potatoes on a road in Ramban district and was cleared in payment of levy, the Maoists action unit, the police said on Monday.

"Blessing for farmers"

Announced in April this year, a month after Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath came to power in UP, the ECOWAP scheme, which had come as a blessing for debt-ridden farmers of the state. Even as the Adityanath government completed six months, BK Sharma got a message on his phone from Punjab National Bank on Friday that he had a loan waiver of ₹1 paise or ₹0.01 as part of the flagship scheme.

"When the banks met the farmers at the district level, I opened one-room house, Mr. Sharma wasHeight of body: 1.75m

UREE MAHADAVI

"There has not been a single mob lynching in UP, including耿ville in the past six months," Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath said on Tuesday, as he boasted of the achievements of the first six months of his government.

"It is a record in the state which no one has to face," the UP government claimed in a press release on Monday. "It has been a remarkable achievement for the state."

"The country has seen a lot of troubles in the past six months," the UP government said in a statement. "There have been no major incidents, and the police have been able to prevent any trouble."

The Union government’s position that it considered Article 370 as a problem for its national security is longstanding. It is highly unlikely that the state would be able to make any major changes to the state without the consent of the people of Kashmir. The current situation is a result of the Union government’s efforts to implement a new constitution for Kashmir, which would give the region greater autonomy and self-governance. This move has been met with resistance from the Kashmiri people, who fear that the new constitution would lead to a loss of control over the region.

India needs to push for the new global intellectual property development system

It must reopen the discussion on balancing the global intellectual property development system with development needs and human rights, and ask the world to join hands in finding a global solution to the refugee crisis.

Targeting the Centre

The Centre has revealed a disturbing trend in pushing the Rohingyas back to conflict zones.

The Centre’s decision to go ahead with a policy that will lead to the forced relocation of refugees from conflict zones is both illegal and inhumane. The Centre’s decision to deport the Rohingyas back to their conflict zones is a violation of international law and human rights.

The former Attorney General about recent landmark judgments of the Supreme Court, the credibility of the court, and the sedition law

AMRIT SARJEE

Harsh Mander, a former Attorney General of India, told Sangbad Pratidin in an interview that the Supreme Court’s recent landmark judgment on Aadhaar will not only help protect the individual but also enhance the credibility of the court.

He said that while the court may have been criticized for its handling of the case, it had also been praised for its courage in taking on a large and powerful institution like the government.

Mander also pointed out that the court had been criticized for its handling of the triple talaq case, which was eventually overturned.

He said that while the court may have been criticized for its handling of the case, it had also been praised for its courage in taking on a large and powerful institution like the government.

He added that the court’s recent judgment on the National Automated Biometric and Identity Management System (Aadhaar) had been praised for its courage in taking on a large and powerful institution like the government.

The court had ruled that the scheme was unconstitutional and violated the rights of individuals.

India seeks probe into North Korea nuclear tests

India on Tuesday sought a probe into North Korea's nuclear proliferation links and said it would not hesitate to respond if it felt threatened in a signed reference to Pakistan.

External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj said her government had found no evidence that North Korea had plotted a nuclear attack on India, but it would not hesitate to respond if it felt threatened. She was speaking at a press conference in New Delhi.

"We have said we will respond if we feel threatened, and our response will be proportionate to the threat," Swaraj said. "We have sought evidence but have not found anything so far."

North Korea said on Monday it had launched a nuclear test in response to U.S. threats, but South Korea said it did not believe the test was nuclear. The test was confirmed later by the United Nations Security Council.

Swaraj also strongly rejected North Korea's claims that it had conducted a "counter test" during the U.S. tests.

"We have told North Korea that we will be watching them closely, and that we will respond appropriately," she said.

India was one of the few countries to denounce North Korea's tests, but it has not so far imposed any sanctions against the country.

Swaraj said India had been watching North Korea's activities closely, and that it would not hesitate to respond if necessary.

Trump warns Kim; labels Iran a ‘rogue state’ and hints at resuming the N deal

Vladimir V. Chirsky

Appealing for the first time before the International Court of Justice, U.S. President Donald Trump on Tuesday lashed out at North Korea for making a nuclear strike "very, very strong," signaled that he was ready to up his military pressure on Pyongyang and renewed U.S. promises to "totally destroy" the North Korean regime and its facilities.

Mr. Trump, who threatened to "totally destroy North Korea" and saw the Iranian nuclear deal as an "abolic failure," said that his administration was also taking a fresh look at the Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START) and that North Korea posed an "unacceptable" threat to the United States.

Trump said he would "energetically" and "immediately" take steps to "totally destroy" North Korea, after the North indicated that it would "test the limits of the [U.S.] patience" by launching a missile this week. The U.S. has already given warnings that it would act against North Korea.

Mr. Trump, who is set to meet North Korean leader Kim Jong-un next month, added that the U.S. was actively considering whether to re-sign the START. In 1991, the U.S. signed the nuclear arms reduction treaty with Russia, which expired in 2009, and the two nations are now working to extend it.

The president said the U.S. was not currently planning to retake South Korea, which is a member of the United Nations, and that any North Korean nuclear test would be met with a "strong and swift response." He also reiterated that North Korea is a "rogue nation," among other negative descriptors.

North Korea
effects on Asia

Pauline Ng

Asia has been left reeling as the United States rolls out a massive new military presence in the region, ostensibly to counter North Korea's nuclear ambitions.

The move has been met with scepticism in the region, with some experts warning that it could exacerbate tensions and lead to a new arms race.

The U.S. has been forced to defend its strategy, which is based on the assumption that any conflict with North Korea would be a "limited war," with the aim of pressing the North to abandon its nuclear programme.

But many in the region, particularly in Asia, have expressed concerns about the potential for a miscalculation and the impact on the wider region.

The move has also been met with criticism from human rights groups, who have warned of the risk to civilians and the environment.

The U.S. has been criticized for its lack of coordination with other countries in the region, and for its failure to engage meaningfully with them.

The move has also been seen as a sign of the U.S.'s growing isolation in the region, as it seeks to reassert its role as a global leader.

However, there are some positive signs, with some countries expressing support for the U.S. stance, particularly in the wake of the recent missile launches.

The move has also been met with some support from other countries in the region, particularly in the wake of the recent missile launches.

Online hotel booking firm to add 10,000 properties in India

‘Demand fuelled by domestic travel

Amsterdam-based Booking.com, a global online hotel room finder, is set to add 10,000 additional properties by next year in India as demand from domestic travellers, Richa Lahoti, vice manager, north-east India, Nepal, Bhutan and Afghanistan, said.

“There are more young travellers in India now,” Ms. Lahoti said in an interview. “They would rather spend on going for a holiday than a date. From the 28,000 properties, we will go to 38,000 by the end of next year. That is mainly fuelling demand.”

Tourism in India accounts for 9.6% of the GDP and is the third largest foreign exchange earner for the country.

The tourism and hospitality sector’s direct contribution to GDP in 2016 was ₹1.57 trillion, according to India Tourism Statistics 2016.

“Rising market”

According to 2006-17 estimates, the direct contribution and tourism and hospitality to GDP is expected to register a compound annual growth rate of 14% and the direct contribution of travel and tourism to GDP is expected to reach ₹2.47 trillion by 2027.

“We have bookings of 17 rooms per second in countries like India and the US, which opens for subscription on Wednesday,” said Richa Lahoti in her report. Close to the funds of ICICI Lombard, Life Insurance Company will enter the capital market with its ₹5,640 crore public issue which open for subscription on Wednesday.

IPO of ICICI Lombard subscribed three times

OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENT

The initial public offer (IPO) of ICICI Lombard General Insurance, which closed for subscription on Tuesday, was subscribed 2.97 times on the last day. Till the time of going to press, the offer received subscription three times for 83.32 crore equity shares against 66.67 crore equity shares on offer in the price band of ₹690 to ₹718. Meanwhile, the institutional portion was subscribed 1.67 times while that reserved for retail and high net worth individuals was subscribed 2.92 times and 80.87 times, respectively.

Before the close of the issue, the general insurance company issued 1.86 crore equity shares to a total of 64 entities as part of the anchor portion allocation for an aggregate amount of ₹725 crore. Institutional entities include SBI, BlackRock, BNP Paribas, HSBC, HDFC Standard Life, Société Générale, SBI Life Insurance and Franklin Templeton.

Most market participants have been bullish on the issue citing strong fundamentals and growth potential.

While on the reported numbers it might appear to be heavily valued, we believe with strong potential to deliver high double-digit growth for near multiple years, the initial locks do not reflect the growth potential said a leading investment firm.

“We have a subscribe rating on the issue,” said Angel Broking in its report. Close to the funds of ICICI Lombard, Life Insurance Company will enter the capital market with its ₹5,640 crore public issue which open for subscription on Wednesday.

OALP, HELP will increase investment in coal-rich India

Prem Medhi, executive director, Coal India, said these changes would be implemented from January 1, 2020 onwards. Medhi had earlier said that the company had stopped producing methanol.

Coal India Limited (CIL) is the world’s largest producer of coal and has been the sole source of coal for India’s power sector. The company has steadily increased its production over the years, and currently produces around 800 million metric tonnes of coal annually.

The changes announced by Medhi are expected to boost demand for coal-based methanol, a versatile fuel that can be used in various applications, including power generation, transportation, and industrial processes.

West Indies captain Jason Holder led from the front in their 263-run victory against England on Tuesday, as the team concluded the first Test at the Oval on the final day.

In 2017, Holder was named the man of the match in the series against England and was in excellent form against the tourists this year. He picked up four wickets in each innings and was named the man of the match for his all-round performance.

His four-wicket haul in the second innings included the key wickets of Joe Root and Ben Stokes, both of whom scored fifties in the first innings. He also took the wicket of Jos Buttler, who was the only other batsman to score a fifty in the match. Holder’s four wickets were achieved in just 8.2 overs, with his best bowling figures of 4-28.

He was supported by his team-mates, including Shannon Gabriel, who took two wickets in his eight overs, and Rout, who claimed three wickets in his 15 overs.

In the batting, West Indies scored 309 and 207 for 8 in the two innings.

The second Test begins on Thursday at Lord’s, with the West Indies needing to pull off another big victory to retain the Test series.

A challenging path

At the end of the second session of the Guru, Krishna speaks of jnana as leading to liberation, but alsoNewark to 9:00 AM.

Please note that this is a challenging path and one should not give up until the end.

But there is a difference between jnana and moksha. Jnana is the knowledge of the gunas and Prakriti, while moksha is the freedom from the influence of the gunas and Prakriti. Krishna explains that the path of jnana is more challenging because it requires a deep understanding of the nature of the gunas and Prakriti.

But there is also the need for action. One must put into practice what they have learned in order to achieve moksha. The path of jnana is not just about understanding, but also about putting that understanding into action.

The path of jnana is not easy. It takes time, effort, and dedication. But the rewards are enormous. The path of jnana leads to liberation and freedom from the cycle of birth and death. It is a path that is worth taking, even if it is challenging.

‘Music piracy on the increase worldwide’

It is up by 5%, says industry group

Based on a survey of consumers in 25 countries, the report found that most unlicensed music listeners were using ‘stream ripping’ to acquire content.

Thirty-five per cent of all internet users were using ‘stream ripping’ in the second quarter of 2016.

Ripping ripping also allows users to take a flip being placed on a streaming platform, such as Spotify or YouTube, into one that can be downloaded permanently.

The percentage of stream ripper’s rose to 53% among 14- to 24-year-olds, while only 10% of 45-64-year-olds engaged in stream ripping.

The report said search engines ‘play a key role in enabling unlicensed music sharing.

According to a recent report by the Royal Society for Public Health, Singapore, a staggering 6.8% of 55-64-year-olds engaged in stream ripping.
